

Chiwan Wayne Hsieh (Chinese Taipei Chapter, IGS)

Dr. Chiwan Wayne Hsieh is a Professor in the Department of Civil Engineering of National Pingtung University of Science and Technology (NPUST), Taiwan. He obtained a Ph.D. from Penn State University, USA in 1991. From 1989-1992 he worked for Gannett Fleming Inc., Pennsylvania, USA. He has served as council member for Chinese Taipei Chapter, IGS for over twenty years. Chiwan Hsieh is a Fellow of ASCE and CICHE, Council Member of the IGS (2014-2022), IGS Asian Committee Chair (2018-2022), and member of several international technical societies. He is the director of GSI-Taiwan as a member of Geosynthetic Institute (USA) since 1999, and an elected International Board member of GSI (2009 & 2011).

Professor Hsieh's primary research interests are engineering behaviour, assessment, and applications of Geosynthetics and construction materials and products, (co)authoring over 200 publications. A regular keynote speaker at conferences and symposia, he organized annual GSI-Taiwan (2006-2009) conferences and the 1st. GSI-Asia (2010) conference. Currently, he is President of the Chinese Taipei Chapter, IGS and chairs the organizing committee for the 7th. Asian Regional Conference (GeoAsia7), to be held in Taiwan. He wishes to play a more active role in the IGS and promote the use of Geosynthetics internationally.